

The Mercy of God Community Project

A Vision for Holistic Living in Waller
County, Texas

Introduction to a master-planned development integrating faith, healthcare, recreation, and residential living into a single, self-sustaining ecosystem. This creates a sanctuary designed to nurture the whole person—body, mind, and spirit.

A Sanctuary for Body, Mind, and Spirit

Body: Medical Campus

A comprehensive medical campus featuring emergency services, patient care, and physical fitness facilities.

Spirit: The Sanctuary

Anchored by the 'Mercy of God Church,' providing a spiritual core and places for reflection.

Community: Residential Living

Modern residential living, lakeside retreats, and communal gathering spaces designed for connection and growth.

Master Plan Overview

The site layout emphasizes flow and accessibility. Residential and retreat zones cluster around water features for tranquility, while high-traffic medical and recreational facilities are positioned for easy access and utility.

The Spiritual Core

The spiritual anchor of the community is designed to be visible from across the lake. The site features dedicated grounds for worship and reflection, utilizing the natural calming effect of the water to create a serene environment for congregants and visitors.

Comprehensive Medical Campus

A fully developed healthcare facility integrated directly into the community. The design includes a multi-wing complex featuring brick and siding aesthetics, dedicated emergency room access, and secure perimeter fencing. This facility ensures immediate access to critical care for residents and the surrounding Waller County area.

Wellness & Rehabilitation

Professional Patient Care Facilities

High-Performance Athletic Center

Health is approached holistically. The facility provides professional-grade clinical spaces for recovery and treatment, paired with a high-performance athletic center equipped for physical therapy, strength training, and general wellness.

Modern Residential Living

High-end residential planning features modern architectural design with clean lines and mixed materials. The homes are designed for indoor-outdoor living, featuring manicured privacy gardens, covered patios for entertaining, and proximity to the community's central amenities.

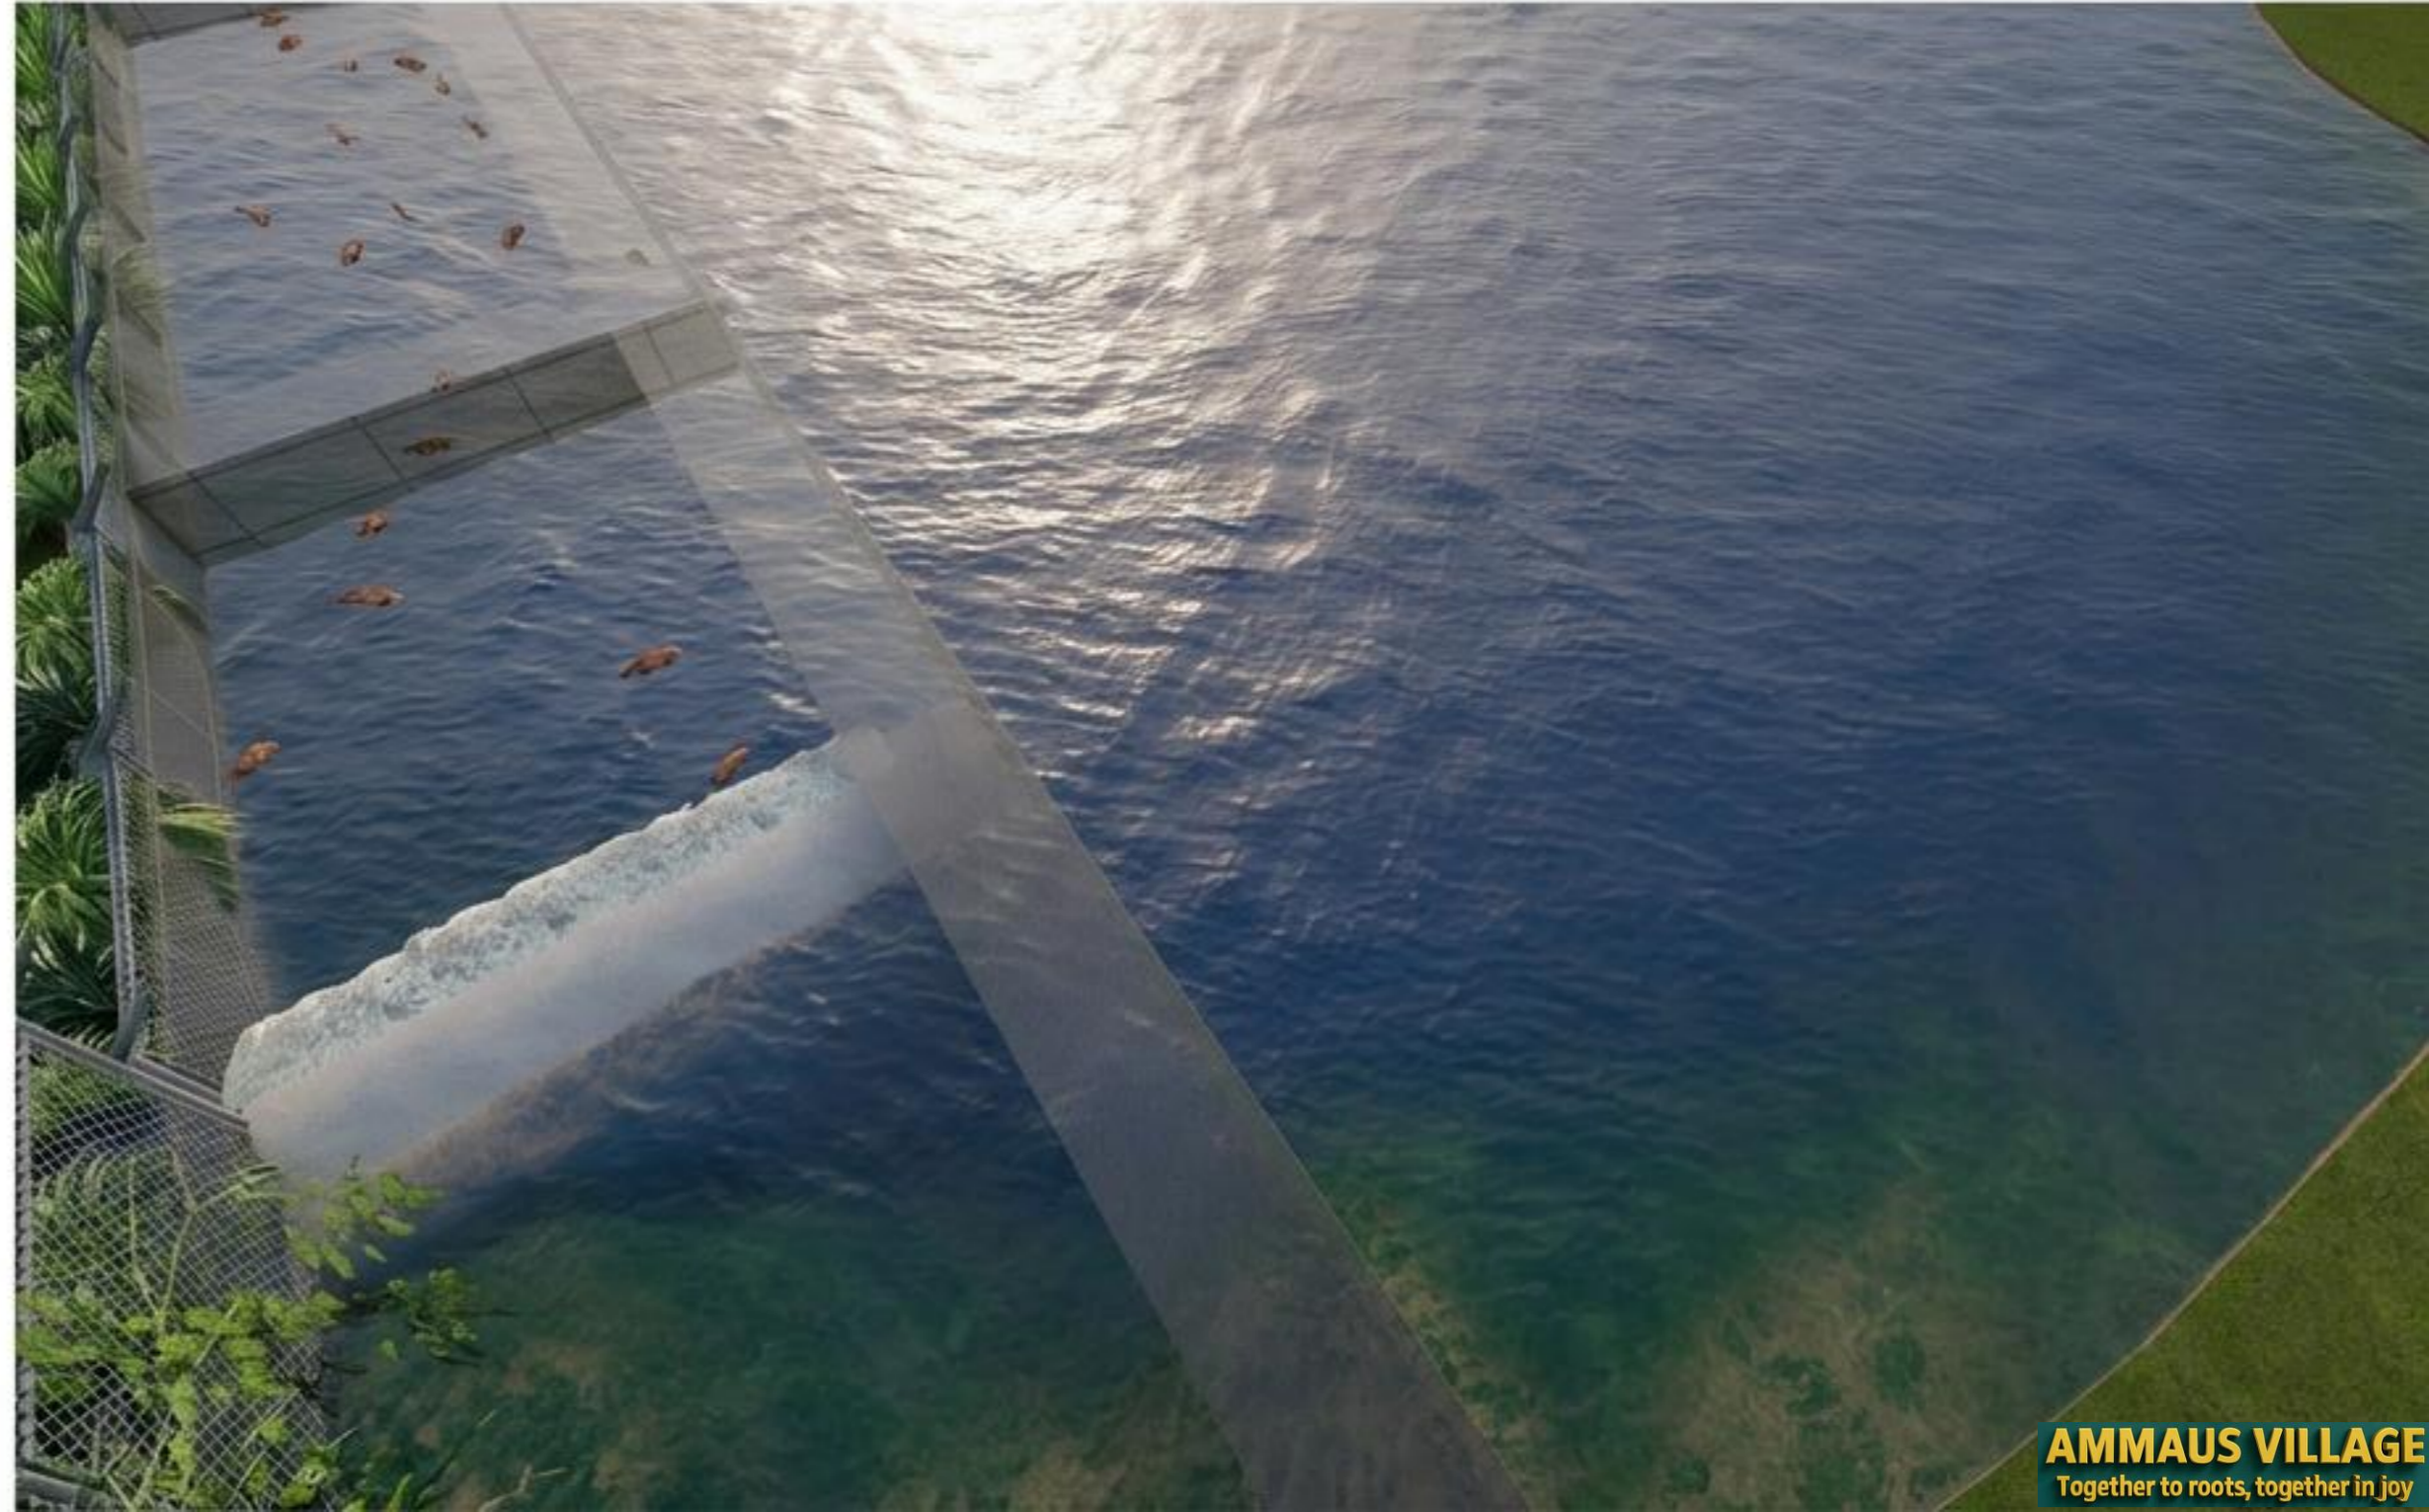

Lakeside Retreats & Hospitality

A dedicated hospitality zone features A-frame cabins designed for retreats, guest housing, or short-term stays. These structures are positioned to maximize water views and privacy, creating an ideal setting for spiritual retreats or family getaways.

Sustainable Water Features

The twin lakes serve more than an aesthetic purpose. The design integrates aquaculture capabilities (visible via designated netting zones), promoting sustainability and connection to nature. Water features are managed to provide both scenic beauty and functional utility for the site.

Culture & Gathering Spaces

Built for community connection. The grounds feature a professional-grade outdoor amphitheater capable of hosting concerts, services, and community performances. Smaller gathering nodes, like the circular pergola gardens, provide spaces for small group meetings and social interaction.

Recreation & Active Living

Dedicated zones for youth and sports. The plan includes regulation-sized soccer pitches and an expansive adventure playground complex, ensuring that the community serves families and promotes an active outdoor lifestyle for all ages.

Infrastructure & Security

The site is designed for energy efficiency and security.

- Sustainability: Extensive covered parking equipped with solar arrays to offset energy consumption.
- Access: A secure, gated main entrance with guard infrastructure ensures safety and controlled access for residents and guests.

A Legacy for the Future

The Mercy of God Community Project is more than a development; it is a commitment to a better way of living. By harmonizing faith, health, and community on a single campus, we are building a legacy that will serve Waller County for generations.
